

În arta fotografică avansată, domeniul de fotografie de natură moartă necesită un rafinament deosebit al luminii, împreună cu abilități de compoziție similare cu cele ale pictorilor.

Fotograful de natură moartă creează imaginile mai degrabă decât să facă fotografii.

În esență orice obiect poate fi subiectul unui fotograf de natură moartă.

Whether it's a smartphone, snapshot camera or digital SLR in your hand, our monthly competition is your chance to show us how you see the world. This may be the first photo you've ever taken, or the first photo-competition entry you've ever done, or you may already be a master. Whichever it is, all are welcome here. Push the boundaries, take a photo and upload it for a chance to win.

Photography competition - 'Still Life'

In fine art photography, the Still Life field demands a highly refined sense of lighting, coupled with compositional skills similar to those that painters possess. The still life photographer makes pictures rather than takes them. Such a photograph may depict a classic scene such as a fruit bowl, or composed objects such as a vase with flowers, an empty bed, the torso of a human body, a candle lit dinner table. In essence any object can be the subject of a still life photograph.
